FRECKLE-FACE

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots, How to Remove Easily.

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable dealer that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simple get an ounce of white-double strength from your druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength ointment as the prescription sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles. Advertisements.

LOOSE-BELTED COAT WITH SEPARATE SKIRT TO BE FASHION THIS FALL

The up-to-date young girl this fall will wear a loose-belted coat that is very loose. She will wear a separate skirt, which will blend with the coat, but will not be of the same color or material. Her hat of plain felt will match her coat, and her shoes will have the low English heels.

The costume pictured shows a skirt of blue and white check, with a plain blue coat. This kind of a costume would be particularly sensible for girl who works in a business office, as well as the girl who is going away to school.

Fashion, for once, says you may look healthy, comfortable and wholesome.

HOW TO CARE FOR TEETH IN SUMMERTIME.

BY MADAME MILLEFLEURS.

I sometimes think you can sunburn your teeth, for I have often noticed how yellow a girl's teeth will get during the summer months.

Of course this must be only a foolish notion, but most people neglect their teeth more in summer than in winter.

We eat more acid fruits and the warm weather jells our grumbling teeth that may be decayed to sleep until the cold weather brings to call it into painful action.

While acid fruit eaten in moderation is very healthful, yet the modern young woman is quite apt to tickle her palate at the expense of her teeth.

A dentist of the middle west told me that among his patients were a number of people who went to California for the winters.

"When they come back in the spring I am always sure to have plenty of work, for the oranges they have eaten constantly eat into the enamel and make great inroads in any little decayed places that otherwise would have been only a third as large.

A splendid way to counteract this acid is to rinse your mouth out after meals with a half cup of water in which there is a half teaspoonful of common baking soda. When you go to bed at night you must rub your teeth with powdered magnesia and allow it to stay on the teeth over night. What goes into the stomach will not hurt you. Do not use a tooth brush that has gotten old and soggy. You must buy a new tooth brush at least once a month.

FAVORITE RECIPES OF SOUTH BEND WOMEN

MRS. J. E. WILLIAMS.

Pineapple Sponge.

Yolks of three eggs; one lemon; few grains salt; two-thirds cup grated or chopped pineapple; one and one-half tablespoonful granulated gelatin; two-thirds cup granulated sugar; one-third cup cold water; one-half cup heavy cream; whites of three eggs.

To prepare—Beat yolks slightly, add grated rind and juice of lemon, sugar and salt and cook over hot water till thickness of heavy cream. Remove from fire and add gelatin, which has been soaking in the one-third cup of cold water, and the pineapple. When this begins to thicken add cream and egg whites, each well whipped. When nearly firm press into the jelly cubes of any favored fruit, or whole berries. Serve with whipped cream.

HIKERS PREPARE TO TRAVEL LIGHT

Carefully Selected List Will Provide Food Without Undue Burden for Traveler.

MRS. EMILY REISENBERG.

"No man can be wise on an empty stomach."—George Eliot.

As soon as our men propose a hunting or fishing trip or plan to take a "hike" far from the comforts of home anxious wives and mothers begin to offer advice—what to take, how to cook, etc.—all of which seems futile and rather tiresome while the masculine mind is engrossed with the far more interesting problem of selecting equipment (and the three "squares" are still forthcoming regularly).

But, after a day in the open, when one's appetite must be appeased by one's own efforts, a few timely "short-cut" recipes and well-balanced rations to draw upon are quite welcome.

To meet such an emergency cut out this clipping and when the long-anticipated outing is to take place try some of these suggestions and you will be surprised how well one can live while on the road!

If gun and rod are to supply the main sustenance, carry some bacon to supply the necessary camp fat, but if meat is to be carried from home select dried beef, lean bacon, potted ham and perhaps a few cans of salmon or other favorite sea food.

Be sure to take good coffee, some sugar and seasoning, with meal and flour for ballast, and if your carrying capacity will permit take plenty of dehydrated potatoes and onions—they are compressed into small cans and will increase at least six times in bulk when soaked in water a few hours.

For other light-weight camp foods see the appended list, and if you are to travel on foot or horseback and your mess-kit must hold all your supplies, select the most highly concentrated.

Concentrated Foods.

Coffee (powdered, in cans, and easily dissolved in hot or cold water), malted milk and chocolate (in powder or tablets), true egg and true milk (powder), beef capsules, pea-cubes, sweet chocolate in sakes, dried fruits, shelled nuts, pilot biscuits in cans, compressed soup tablets, erswurst (a very nourishing soup powder in parchment rolls composed of pea-meal, meat and vegetables), hard candies (lemon, lime, fruit tablets and spice and peppermint lozenges), sugar, salt, pepper, ginger and mustard in tins.

Choosing Utensils.

Take only the most necessary pieces and see that every one is chosen for a definite use.

A set of cutlery, plate and cup for each person. A coffee pot, frying pan and one granite kettle with folding handle and cover, or, if space allows, take two of these kettles—one small enough to fit into the other. These will do for cooking, are handy to carry water and will hold part of the supplies while on the move.

No matter how "light" you travel, if you must get your own meals, carry a wire rack with folding legs. It will hold all your pots and pans over a small fire. You can broil your fish and game on it and you can heat water for any desired purpose. For baking corn-pone or emergency biscuits take two deep pie-tins with flaring rims—placed between the two tins you can bake on the rack or in the hot ashes without an oven.

Short Cut Preparations. See that your supplies will yield sixteen ounces to the pound, carry no waste matter and combine as much as possible to have handling separate ingredients.

Prepared Camp Flour. Ingredients—Four cups bread flour, four level teaspoons baking powder, one-half cup true milk and one teaspoon salt.

Method—Sift all ingredients together, pack in strong waxed bags, slip these into plain paper bags and tie securely. This preparation will do for biscuits, hot bread, dumplings and to use in connection with corn meal for bread or pancakes. If you like to have some plain flour on hand to dip meat in or thicken gravy carry a pound sifter can full of flour—this will be cleaner and more economical as you can sift on just enough without waste or danger of spilling.
